Our Words Have Power

Our words have power and they are important, but we can make them even more effective by writing them down and sharing them with one another. We have a wonderful role model in Saint Catherine of Siena who sent nearly 400 letters to popes, rulers, and ordinary people. Her writings were a powerful vehicle for spiritual healing, political reconciliation, and reform. She can be our inspiration as we make a conscious effort to reach out to family, friends, and neighbors. Don't think it, ink it. A simple note or a heartfelt letter has an enduring quality that spoken words may not possess. Imagine finding a real letter in your mailbox or a handwritten note in your cubby or on your shelf. Words become tangible, something to hold, and read again and again. We have an opportunity to thank, to commend, to encourage, and to comfort those around us and our written words might just be the lift that raises spirits or brings a smile to the recipient. A written note is physical and shows an extra measure of care.

There is someone here - a neighbor or a staff member, a friend or colleague whose day would be brighter, warmer, and more rewarding because of you and the words you've written down. St. Catherine would be proud.

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas…. Or at least it is time for Fr Joe's Christmas collection to start. Last year we collected over $15,000 and are hoping to surpass that amount. Your generous donations will be used to aid needy families in the parish at the discretion of Father Watson. ALL donations go to families NOT to the parish. Everyone will receive a cubby stuffer giving details. The drive goes from November 3rd to December 4th. Need more details contact John McSorley, HR-203

Again, this year we will participate with the Protestant Council in collecting for Samaritan Purse – Operation Christmas Child. There will be a box at the November Mass to collect items that will fit into a shoebox. Suggested items include: small toy, school supply, puzzle, hair barrette, gloves, hat… Do not include, soap, any liquids, toothpaste, candy, or gum.
